PICKLE PLANT IS THOUGHT CERTAIN AS ADA INDUSTRY

Iowa Manager Now Seeks Facts On Location;
Light and Water.

C. OF C. PROVIDES SITE

Atkinson Announces His Intention of Opening
Plant Alone.

That a pickle plant will be established at Ada within the next few months is the belief of O. N. Walker, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. The following letter from J. H. Atkinson of Brighton, Iowa, explains it:

Brighton, Ia., Jan. 13, 1922.

Mr. Newton Walker,

Ada, Okla.

Dear Sir:

I have not heard your opinion of Oklahoma pickles Iowa made. The pickles first made are now excellent and I see no reason why they cannot be handled successfully. I have another lot of several gallons in the priming vinegar and they are also in good shape.

I am now in a position to come to Ada and start a pickle business of my own, if suitable arrangements can be made as to acreage, location, water, lights and power.

I would start the factory alone as I have satisfied myself that the raw material is right.

Sincerely yours,

J. H. ATKINSON.

Site Is Provided.

The Chamber of Commerce has already provided a site, can assure the acreage and other satisfactory arrangements. Mr. Atkinson is expected to be in Ada within the next fortnight and make final arrangements for the location and building for the factory.

The Chamber of Commerce, under the direction of Mr. Walker, has been in touch with the pickle man for several months. Last summer cucumbers from several farms were put in salt brine here and later shipped to Mr. Atkinson at Brighton, Iowa, with the above results.

Mr. Atkinson is a man of many years experience. Before going into the pickle business, he was a college professor of chemistry.

LEAGUE BATTLES DRAWING TO END AFTER TONIGHT

City league teams will go in for a double header tonight at the college gym. The Ada News team, which lost a hard game to the Tishomingo American Legion team there Saturday night, is playing the Teachers College while the Business College and Cement Plant mix things. A radical change in the standing of the teams is expected to be the result of tonight's contest.

While the News team has been weakened by the loss of several good men, the Business College reports a reinforcement. The Cement plant is using its same line-up and expects to see players in better form tonight. The Teachers speak for themselves, following their sensational victory Saturday night over the O. B. U. quintet. A thriller is expected tonight in the Business College-Cement Plant game, both teams having favorable dope.

The game will start at 7:30 and playing will be in 15 minute halves. Those attending will be given an hour's entertainment. Wilson will referee. It is reported that several new men will appear tonight and every team concerned is preparing to make the most of the contests.

BEBEE-BYNG PIPE LINE IS SOUGHT BY ADA COMPANY

Installing a pipe line from the Bebee oil field to the Katy railway station at Byng, six miles distant, is the aim of the Ada Pipe Line company of this city which has applied to the state issues commission for a permit to sell stock, the proceeds of which will be used to install the line, according to a report made public here today.

Capital stock of the company, which is incorporated, is $40,000 and par value of shares is $25. A. J. Walker of Francis, formerly a conservation agent of the government in the Healdton field, is president. C. V. Cowing is vice-president, and W. M. Pegg, secretary-treasurer.

It is set forth in the application that wells of the Bebee field are now producing about 100 barrels daily and that production soon will be increased, when offset wells reach pay sand. The company expects to install a loading dock at Byng and later to extend the line to Ada, a distance of six miles. Transportation for crude oil is available over three lines here.

EAST CENTRAL IS VICTOR AT HOME

Oklahoma Baptist Cagers Fall Before Onslaught of Local Collegians.

Coach Thompson's men made the most of a rough deal in the basketball game here Saturday night with Oklahoma Baptist University, overtaking an 8-point lead and winning the game by two points. This was the best and hardest fought game played on the local court this season. It was also the first conference game played here by the Teachers College and the second league victory for Thompson's men.

Little and Waner were best scoring men for the home team while Clarkson lead for the visitors. Beck also played a good game for Shawnee and took three field goals in first half. It was his playing that in the first 10 minutes enabled the Baptists to get a lead of 8 points on Ada. The first half ended with one foul had been called on the Ada team while seven had been called on the visitors.

In the last half Thompson gave his men the high sign and the keen offensive opened. Newton, Ada forward, was put out in the last few minutes of the first half on account of injuries, but later re-entered the game, putting up a good fight. Evans was in better form than he had ever shown on the home court and it was due largely to his fighting that the Baptists were prevented from making a heavier score. Chism formed the other half of the college defense.

Shawnee Offense Strong.

Defensive work of the local squad was outdone by the running offense of Grove's men. Goal shooting by Shawnee fell short respectively. On the other hand, Ada was forced to take advantage of every opportunity and made all chances count. The score was tied with only two minutes to play. Little then tossed a good one from short range, which gave his team a lead of two points. A series of dual contests over the ball killed the remaining time. Teachers (22) Pos. Baptists (20) Newton LF ——— Beck

FOREIGN TREATY RULED SUPERIOR TO STATE'S LAW

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—A treaty with foreign nations supercedes a state statute relating to the holding or real estate, the supreme court today held in effect, refusing to consider an appeal which H. F. Herrick sought to bring from the supreme court of California against A. Bassetti, an Italian. The state court held that California law prohibiting an Italian from holding property in the state was invalid because it conflicted with the treaty of 1851 with Italy.

Fire Threatens Healdton.

ARDMORE, Jan. 16.—Two buildings completely destroyed, a third one damaged and one fireman in the hospital with a broken leg are the results of a fire that threatened the business section of Healdton late Sunday evening. Loss of property is placed approximately at $37,000.

Burch, on trial for Murder, Fails In Desperate Attempt to End His Life

Scene of Arthur Burch's vain attempt to kill himself. Arrow points to railing adjacent to "Bridge of Sighs" at Los Angeles county jail where Burch tried to elude his guard and jump. Cross indicates floor below, a drop of fifty feet, where Burch would have landed, maiming or killing himself. At left is Mrs. Elizabeth Bessanty, photographed at the trial.

One of the most sensational events in the trial in Los Angeles, Cal., of Arthur C. Burch on the charge of slaying J. Belton Kennedy near Kennedy's hunting lodge in Beverly Hills, was Burch's attempt to commit suicide while being led from the courtroom to his cell. Burch attempted to throw off his guards, leap over a railing and drop to the iron-covered main floor of the jail, fifty feet below. He would have been maimed, if not killed, by such a fall. Mrs. Elizabeth Bessanty, who lived with her husband and children in Beverly Glen, next to the Kennedy hunting lodge, proved a strong witness for the state in the trial. Rigid cross-examining failed to shake her testimony as to events at the time of the murder. Burch was charged jointly with Madelyn Obenchain, divorcee and intimate friend of Kennedy, with slaying Kennedy.

Car Owners Allowed Until Feb. 1 To Get 1922 Tags Is Rule

J. I. Laughlin, chairman of the board of county commissioners has returned from Oklahoma City where he was looking after the interest of the county. He states that the State Highway Department informed him car owners will be permitted to go without the licenses during the month of January. Application for license must be made by February 1, however, or the owner will be subjected to a fine.

While in the city Mr. Laughlin examined the new concrete road constructed near Oklahoma City. He says it is the finest stretch of road he ever saw, but the cost was very high.

FLOYD ACCEPTS POSITION AS DEPUTY COUNTY CLERK

C. W. Floyd, who was with Simpson's, Inc., last year, has accepted a position as deputy county clerk under Rit Erwin. He will enter upon his new duties immediately.

Few people in the county are better known than Mr. Floyd. He has lived in this section many years. His friends say he will make an efficient officer in his new place and that Mr. Erwin's force has been considerably strengthened.

Students enrolled in the public schools who desire to apply for these vacancies must bring with them certificates of honorable dismissal from the school which they are now attending.

COLTER HELD FOR ALLEGED LARCENY

Joe Shoat Turns State's Evidence, Laying Bare Entire Story.

Jim Colter, charged with grand larceny, was bound over to the district court this afternoon at the conclusion of his preliminary on a complaint of stealing a set of tongs from the Kingwood Oil company about September 10.

At midafternoon he was preparing to make $2000 bond fixed by Judge Brown.

Starting testimony was given in the preliminary by Joe Shoat, also charged with the theft, as County Attorney Wayne Wadlington closed rebuttal for the prosecution.

Shoat, who plead guilty to the charge and turned state's evidence, told a complete story of the alleged theft naming Colter as a principal.

Shoat was arrested several weeks ago and after remaining in the county jail for several days, made bond. As he was leaving the jail, he met officers who had seized Colter.

Reveals Story

Under direct questioning from the prosecution, Shoat said he had been told by Colter to steal the tongs after the two had visited the Kingwood well and seen them hanging on the derrick. Colter suggested at the time they say the tongs, Shoat said, that "there is a good chance to get a string of tools." Later, Shoat alleged, Colter twice proposed to him that he steal the tongs, offering him $50 as a

New Officers and Directors Chosen For Alfalfa Mill

R. W. Allen was elected president of the Ada Alfalfa Milling company at a recent meeting of the new board of directors chosen at the annual stockholders meeting January 10.

New directors chosen by stockholders are J. H. Bullock, H. V. Evans, Frank Dally, F. J. Stafford, R. W. Allen, A. D. Allen and J. G. Witherspoon. Besides R. W. Allen, officers are J. H. Bullock, vice-president and A. D. Allen, secretary-treasurer.

The alfalfa mill is one of the city's newest enterprises. Although it was not started until last year, the mill has a capacity of several carloads of mixed feed a day. Among other feeds manufactured is a combination alfalfa-molasses feed which is proving popular with stockmen.

This enterprise, it is said, will afford a good market for all alfalfa raised in the county.

2 Churches Condemn Establishing Pool and Billiard Hall

Strong protest to the opening in Ada of a pool hall was voiced yesterday by at least two churches in almost unanimous votes, according to reports made public Monday morning.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
A GOOD NAME THE BEST ASSET.—A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favour rather than silver and gold.—Proverbs 22:1.

FORDS NEW IDEA.
Henry Ford has a new idea about government finance. The government spent many millions of dollars developing a gigantic nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, during the war, but when peace came sooner than had been thought possible, the work was stopped. Ford has offered to take it over provided the government spends another $30,000,000 towards completing the plant. He suggests that instead of issuing bonds to cover this expenditure, currency to the amount named be issued with the plant itself as security. These notes will bear no interest and will be taken up and retired from the returns of the plant. Ford suggests that the new currency will circulate the same as other forms issued by the government and an immense sum in the way of interest will be saved. After all, bonds are based on the good faith of the government, while these notes would have not only the good faith of the government behind them but also the plant which has already cost many times the amount of the notes. Under the present laws national banks may issue notes secured* by certain classes of government bonds which in turn are based on the honesty and belief of the people in the solvency of the government. For that matter some two or three hundred millions of the currency now in circulation have no other foundation than the promise of the government to pay on demand. Ford does not advocate fiat money, for any thinking man knows that a promise to pay is worth nothing unless said promise is faithfully kept, but he argues that the natural wealth of the country, plus the good faith of the government, is the best possible security for any issuance of currency. The point in Ford's suggestion is to avoid the payment of interest by basing the circulating medium on some tangible asset of natural wealth like Muscle Shoals.

The time has arrived when this country must have larger and larger quantities of fertilizer. Heretofore we have been almost entirely dependent on Chili for nitrates which form the most important part of fertilizer. The Germans, however, devised a method of extracting nitrogen from the air. This is what the Muscle Shoal plant was intended to do. Although it is not needed for purposes of warfare, it is worse needed for agricultural purposes, hence the necessity of completing plant and putting it into operation. Ford's reputation as a man who can put things over has created a great deal of sentiment in favor of turning the plant over to him and letting him show what he can do in the way of producing a cheap fertilizer for the farmers of the nation, whether his currency plan is adopted or rejected.

NEWSPAPER ETHICS.
A committee of Texas newspaper men are working on a code of newspaper ethics which will be submitted to the press members in the near future. Really that is a move of quite a little importance. In times past there were too many incompetents occupying the editorial tripods, men who had no idea of the meaning of the word "ethics". Their chief aim in life was to tear down their competitors and this they did to a finish, generally carrying themselves down in the ruin they caused. Now that the profession is on a higher plane and still improving, there should be some sort of standard of ethics for the fraternity, by which the reputable newspaper men would be guided because it is right and the others because of the force of opinion of the better element. The time has past when a newspaper can devote its time and space to tearing down and villifying its competitors. Reputable editors, as never before, recognize the fact that they owe the public certain duties regardless of the personal feelings of the editors themselves. Certainly the Texas men are on the right track and it is to be hoped that their idea will spread.

Luther Harrison states that last fall a good subscriber wanted to stop his paper because he had not published an auditor's report of Hughes county finances. Later two others came in to stop their papers because it was published. There is nothing new about this sort of thing, but it will be noted that the Holdenville Democrat is doing business at the old stand. If those guys did cancel their subscriptions it is a safe bet that they are still reading the Democrat regularly, only they are now reading borrowed copies.

If it could be circulated fast enough, one dollar would in time pay all the debts in the world. It is when passing it around the circle stops that the rub comes. A dollar in an old teapot or sock does no one any good.

England and Ireland may not have buried the shillelagh entirely, but at least it looks as if they were going to club together.

The prohibition commissioner has asked enforcement agents around the country to be less communicative. Wants the dry agents to dry up, so to speak.

They Have Their Reward.

(Holdenville Democrat)
Within the past three weeks two of America's most prominent men have passed away from earth. One was a private citizen, free from the honors and cares of public office, who had spent his life in the interest of the American people and in the advocacy of the principles that make our country great. The other had been an official from his earliest manhood and for more than a quarter of a century had been among the dominant figures of the American senate.

When the private citizen passed away his death was mentioned in every journal between the seas. Uncounted columns were filled with heartfelt tributes to the man who had lived and died an upstanding, fearless, and virile American. No death since that of Mr. Roosevelt has drawn so many editorial eulogies as that of Henry Watterson of Kentucky.

But when the commander-in-chief of the American senate gave up his lease on life the American press was strangely silent. They merely mentioned that a dominant senator had passed away. No word of praise appeared on any editorial page when the man who dictated the nomination of Warren G. Harding from a sick bed in Philadelphia met the cold messenger with the inverted torch. He died without a eulogy and was buried without a tear.

America loved Henry Watterson because he loved and served America. America failed to love Boies Penrose because he failed to love and serve America. He dedicated his masterly abilities to the device of insolent wealth and when he came to die he had already collected his retainer. He did not covet the affections of his countrymen and no heart was saddened when he ceased to live. He is already forgotten by many people and those he served have already hired a man in his stead.

The Wife May Rob.

(Lawton Constitution)
A Massachusetts judge ruled recently that it is lawful for a wife to take money from her husband's pockets. In support of this ruling he imposed fine and sentence for assault upon a husband who had dealt roughly with his wife for exercising his ancient feminine prerogative. Unfortunately there are many households where improperly adjusted family finances will make this a matter of personal importance, according to The McAlester News Capital.

In the right sort of home a wife does not need to pick her husband's pockets for necessary expenditures, nor does she do so for pin money. It is acknowledged that each shares equally in the responsibility and labor of making the home and therefore each is equally entitled to decision as to disbursement of the family income. The whole matter is talked over freely and decided sensibly. Provision is made for the essential expenses of the household and the disposal of any remaining funds is a matter of mutual agreement.

The number of such homes increases from year to year as the race progresses in understanding and as women come more in contact with business life, but incidents like the one quoted above show there is still need of education.

Repair Shop To Mend Broken Locomotives Of Mexican System

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 16.—Plans for the inauguration of a large repair shop at some point on the border, to put into condition the hundreds of disabled Mexican locomotives are being pushed by Ramon P. de Negri, director general of Mexican railroads, according to his announcement here. He says the plans are almost complete.

The shop would employ 500 American machinists to do the skilled labor and from 500 to 1,000 helpers and common laborers, at a conservative estimate.

American machinists would be furnished by the international association of machinists and would reside on the American side of the border.

J. W. Kelly, international representative of the machinists, who has just returned from Mexico City is a close friend of Mr. de Negri and has had several conferences with him regarding the shops, he said.

Juarez is looked upon as the most favorable point for the shop on account of climatic conditions and railroad facilities through E. Paso.

The average monthly payroll for 500 machinists and helpers at their present scale would be almost $100,000 a month, officials said.

Mr. Kelly organized five Mexican locals of machinists, with a total membership of 4000 he said. Three other locals now are being formed.

President Obregon and Mr. de Negri are members of the International Association of Machinists, and the president is a practical machinist, Mr. Kelly said.

GOOD JUDGMENT—THIS

The other evening a man was thinking about his insurance policies and other important papers and he decided it was indeed foolish to keep them at home.

This man knew it would cause him a great deal of trouble if these things should be lost or destroyed so he came to the bank the next morning to rent a Safety Deposit Box.

This man was surprised to find just what he wanted at very small cost—so small that he hardly noticed the price at all.

When it costs so little to play safe why take chances? A few cents a month pays the bill.
Think it over.

WAR'S HORRIBLE WASTE

Mr. R. C. Leffingwell was the assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of finances during the war. While he was in the treasury he became deeply impressed with the magnitude of government expenditures and the looseness, inefficiency and waste that are a part of government method. All the secretaries of the treasury since the outbreak of the war have shared this feeling of apprehension and concern with Mr. Leffingwell. I quote here a recent utterance of his on war expenditures:

"Of the $4,000,000,000, exclusive of interest on the public debt, spent in the fiscal year 1921, $1,101,615,013.32 was spent by the War department, $650,373,835.38 by the Navy department, $890,000,000 on the railroads, $230,000,000 by the bureau of war risk insurance, and $357,814,897.01 by the Interior department, mostly, I take it, for Civil war and Spanish war pensions—a total of $3,080,000,000 under these heads."

"In the fiscal year 1920 the War department spent $1,610,000,000, and the Navy department $740,000,000, a total of $2,250,000,000. Secretary Mellon estimates that in the fiscal year, 1921, the War department will spend $1,025,000,000, and the Navy department $700,000,000, a total of $1,725,000,000; and that in the fiscal year, 1922, the War department will spend $570,000,000, and the Navy department $545,000,000, a total of $1,115,000,000. This makes a three-year total of $5,190,000.

"Germany went to war to realize on her investment in arms and armories. The burden of universal military service, expenditures on the army and navy, subsidies and doles, became intolerable. She thought she would repeat the exploit of 1870 and make war so profitable in territory and indemnities as to recoup herself for the outlay of 40 years' preparation. The splendid resistance of the Belgians and the French and of the little British expeditionary force made the short war a futile dream. The untrained manhood and unmotivated resources of the Western World, of the British empire overseas, and finally of America, determined the issue. Germany suffered economic collapse, though her armies, beaten but not routed, were still on enemy soil. So Germany's military preparedness was her cause for making war and was the cause of her defeat. In the issue, it was economic preparedness that mattered most."

"Today, men, women and little children are starving to death in Europe because of the war's horrible waste and because of the still more horrible waste of after the war. Two years and a half after armistice, nearly two years after peace was concluded between Germany and the allies, millions of men are under arms, eating and wearing the produce of the fields and of the labor of a civilian population which must bear the load of taxes and inflation necessary to maintain those armies in economic idleness. The peoples of continental Europe are staggering under the load of armaments, far too great before the war and intolerable now. Their rulers hold themselves in power by subsidies and doles, by playing now on their fears, and again on their avarice, still again on nationalistic ambitions or ancient racial hatreds. The allies have undertaken to insure Germany's economic recovery by insisting upon her disarmament and the payment of reparations which means the development of a huge export balance; but for themselves they reserve the doubtful privilege of remaining armed to the teeth..."

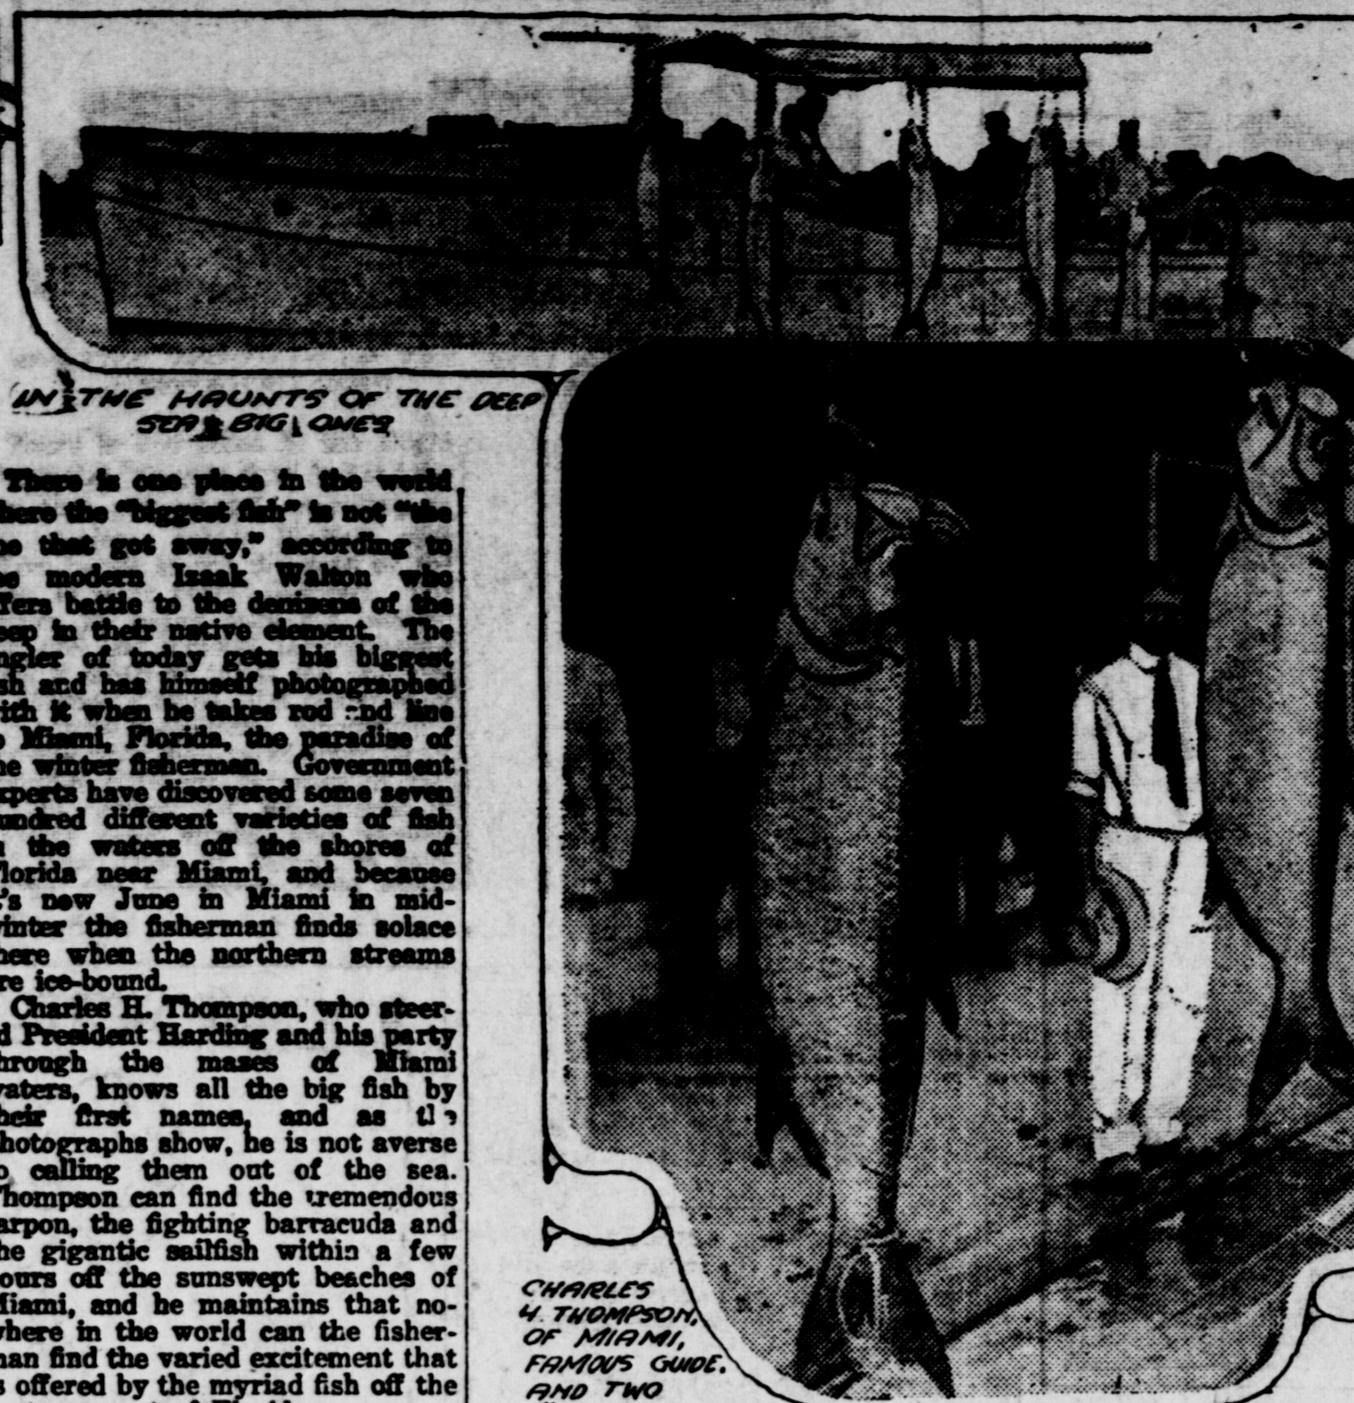

"We have demonstrated our military power. We have shown what may be done in a few short months to make an army and transport it to wage a foreign war. We have no need to be aggressors abroad, we are invulnerable at home. Let us accept the responsibilities of the position of leadership which is ours, show the world how to beat swords into plowshares, relieve the peoples of the world of apprehension and lead them back into the ways of peace and plenty. If we prepare for war we shall have it. If we lead the world in preparation for peace we may have that."

Steel Barrels.

If the statements of the makers are well founded, it is probable that steel barrels will eventually take the place of wooden ones. The steel barrel is composed of staves of that material locked together by an ingenious device; the hoops and heads are also of steel. It is claimed that the steel barrel is more durable and more compact than the wooden one. As it is said to be lighter and cheaper, it has already had favor in various quarters. About 300,000,000 barrels are needed annually in normal times, to supply the demand in the United States. Flour mills use about 90,000,000, the sugar industry 40,000,000, and the cement industry 75,000,000.—Christian Science Monitor.

The famous Mayflower compact vessel, will be commemorated in a signed by the Pilgrims in their bronze base-relief, which was set up in Province town, Mass., recently.

MIAMI WATERS TEEM WITH FISH; BIG ONES BITING THIS YEAR

IN THE HIGHLIGHTS OF THE DEEP
SON & BIG ONES

There is one place in the world where the "biggest fish" is not "the one that got away," according to the modern Isaac Walton who offers battle to the denizens of the deep in their native element. The angler of today gets his biggest fish and has himself photographed with it when he takes rod and line to Miami, Florida, the paradise of the winter fisherman. Government experts have discovered some seven hundred different varieties of fish in the waters off the shores of Florida near Miami, and because it's now June in Miami in mid-winter the fisherman finds solace there when the northern streams are ice-bound.

Charles H. Thompson, who steered President Harding and his party through the mazes of Miami waters, knows all the big fish by their first names, and as the photographs show, he is not averse to calling them out of the sea. Thompson can find the tremendous tarpon, the fighting barracuda and the gigantic sailfish within a few hours of the sun-swept beaches of Miami, and he maintains that nowhere in the world can the fisherman find the varied excitement that is offered by the myriad fish of the eastern coast of Florida.

And apparently America's fishermen agree with him, for just the moment the winter season opened at Miami this year, about mid-December, the partisans of light tackle and heavy tackle for deep sea fishing, hurried to Miami. Through Biscayne Bay the fishing boats flashed over the sparkling, crystal clear waters, out to the gulf stream which swarms with all kinds of fish from grunts and groupers to the great 500 pound shark that steals the fisherman's catch from his line.

Fifteen sand perch (for bait), one mutton fish (snapper), six cero mackerel (two very large), one barracuda (38½ inches long), one amberjack.

TEACHING PUPILS HOW TO READ, INTERPRET AND SOLVE PROBLEMS IN ARITHMETIC

By R. S. Newcomb

PART 2. Teaching Pupils to Interpret Problems.

Much that has already been said about the reading of problems applies equally as well to their proper interpretation. If pupils are ever taught to interpret problems intelligently they must first be led to understand that there is in every problem a central idea involved. They must be led to see that every problem is a story about something. The practice of requiring pupils to read problems silently and then write or tell the ideas involved in the problems is a highly commendable one. The pupil must be led to feel that nothing can take the place of keen concentrated thinking about the problem during the time it is being read and immediately thereafter.

As has been pointed out in one of the preceding paragraphs, one of the greatest barriers to proper problem reading and consequently problem interpretation is the inability of the pupil to form a clear mental image of the situation involved. As a problem is read there should come in the mind a mental picture or image of the situation as a whole or at least of certain phases of the conditions described. In order that the pupil may have proper mental imagery the problem material must be within the mental grasp of the pupil. It must deal with relatively familiar experiences, and hence must emanate from the needs, interests and activities of the pupil. Many of the interpretation difficulties of pupils can be traced directly to the fact that the reading and interpretation of unfamiliar words or thoughts are involved which make a proper mental image of the situations involved impossible. Psychology tells us that mental images are the tools with which we reason. This being true the more that can be done in the way of clarifying the mental image of the pupil in connection with a problem the less will be his interpretation difficulties.

Few pupils are given any definite instruction in the methods of interpretation of problems. Much assistance will be afforded pupils if the teacher will occasionally read over a number of problems and offer clear, simple interpretations. Often an entire lesson devoted to problems will open entirely new avenues of thought in the minds of some pupils in regard to the nature and construction of problems.

In connection with problem study the idea is altogether too prevalent that the computation is the essential involved, and should receive the major attention of pupils. Computation is largely a mechanical process while interpretation involves a very distinct type of reasoning. One reason problem interpretation has not relieved the attention which its importance necessitates is the fact that teachers have stressed computation and mechanical processes to a much greater degree. A premium is placed upon rapid work and quick solutions. The pupil gets the idea that the quicker he can begin his actual figuring the sooner he will complete the work and possibly receive the approbation of the teacher and the administration of his class mates.

Little attention is given to the conception of the problem of his methods of interpretation. If his answer is correct the reward is his however imperfect his interpretation may be or how indistinct and hazy his mental picture of the situation involved. The wide awake teacher whose pupils have difficulty with arithmetical problems will seek to assist her pupils not by indicating solutions or actually solving the problems herself, but by properly devised questions, artfully contrived experiences and by properly devised questions, artfully contrived experiences and by systematic guidance of the pupil's thought processes so that correct interpretation will result.

In proper problem solving much depends upon the attention given by the pupil to the planning of the solution. So often the pupil reads the problem over and then begins to add, subtract or multiply as the notion happens to suggest itself to him at that particular moment. We would not think much of the judgment of a man who started out to build a house by laying the foundation, putting up the up-rights and then drawing the plan of his house. The first essential in building a house is a definite well drawn plan. The same thing is true in solving problems. First think over the problem, decide upon the processes to be used, the exact manner in which the numbers involved are to be related to each other and formulate a definite line of procedure. Occasionally it is well to have the pupil write down the indicated solution of a large number of problems. This practice will often enable a pupil to see entirely through a problem and decide whether or not the most economical methods are being used and whether the result which the indicated solution is to yield will be correct.

The pupil should be taught from the beginning that the solving of problems is an important task. Problem solving is a conquest, and a conquest of sufficient moment to demand and necessitate the organization and planning of an attack if satisfactory results are to be obtained.

PART 3. Teaching Pupils to Solve Problems

In the solution of problems pupils should be taught to perform all their work with abstract numbers. Only the answer need be labeled. If an analysis is desired it has been found best to place it to one side by itself free from the actual computation. The analysis of a problem should be short and largely abbreviated. Many difficulties of pupils can be traced to the long and involved analysis. Pupils become confused in the complexity of words and phrases and fail in problem solving as a result. It is far better that the analysis in form and wording be largely of the pupil's own choosing so long as it is neat and orderly done.

It would be well if much of the work in problem solving could be of an oral nature. In actual life conditions practically all problems encountered are solved with little or no use of the pencil. To be fitted for the practical demands of life in connection with ordinary buying and selling the pupil should be fairly well trained in oral computation. Oftentimes in problems arising in outside activities which necessitate the use of a pencil in solving only the more difficult combinations are then performed in writing. The pencil and crayon habit can become so strongly entrenched during the school period that oral computation will be greatly hampered and consequently complete success under life conditions less assured.

As accuracy is a prime essential to success in the business world it should receive no little attention in the classroom. While it is necessary for the school to give rewards for effort and give recognition oftentimes for relatively unsatisfactory work in order to offer encouragement to the pupil to strive for greater efficiency, yet the fact should never be lost sight of that accuracy is one of the most important factors with which we are concerned in the study of arithmetic. One hundred percent accuracy should be the goal of every pupil in every form of computation.

Pupils should be taught to check all results in some manner. Usually an approximate checking of results especially in the more complicated problems is sufficient, however the pupil should be given adequate drill in specific checking so that when the occasion demands he will be in readiness. Requiring the pupil to check the answer found with the approximate answer secure before the actual solution is a valuable type of checking. Considering the answer to the query, "Does my computation seem reasonable?" will ordinarily serve as a desirable check. Some form of checking whether of a specific or general nature is highly conducive to accuracy. As a result of proper checking of results, slight errors of computation are quickly noted and more significant and oftentimes absurd errors in interpretation are occasionally made apparent. In all work in problem solving the teacher should strive to inculcate in the mind of the pupil a critical attitude. Once a desire for absolute accuracy is ingrained in the mind of the pupil, he will not consider the solution of a problem completed until the result secured has been properly verified.

QUAKERS CLING TO SILENCE AS GREATEST GOOD

(By the Associated Press)

RICHMOND, Ind., Jan. 16.—On the ground of an experience of more than 250 years, during which the Quaker church has relied upon "silent waiting before God" as the source of spiritual discernment, its members, known as the Friends, to-day still believe in the power of silence. Walter C. Woodward, general secretary of the Five Years Meeting of Friends in America and editor of the American Friend, in a statement issued here today said this religious group still believes that the world may be purified and strengthened through the power of a living silence.

"From the constant clash and confusion which disturbs it," he said, "the world must retire to the inner chamber of the unseen reality of the spirit, if peace and good will are to become regnant."

"The world is now stirred as never before with aspirations for world brotherhood. To become fruitful, these aspirations must be based upon the will of peace. The attainment of this will is primarily a spiritual, rather than an intellectual process. It must come through spiritual communion with God, and through Him with man, the brother. Herein lies the power of silence, through Him with man, the brotherhood with the infinite."

"This is not the silence of seclusion which would lead one from life's responsibilities to the introspection of the monastic cell. It is what Friends term a living silence through which men may become spiritually energized for the great tasks of human betterment."

"Spiritual things cannot be discerned without quiet meditation, the western world is reminded by Sadhu Sundar Singh, the Hindoo seer. That American churches are coming to recognize this fundamental principle is illustrated by the clarion call for 'spaces of silence' made by The Churchman, organ of the Episcopal church of America. At a time when the soul of America is being stirred to meet the need of the world, Friends wish it for all friends of peace and good will."

FORDS RUN 34 MILES ON GALLON GASOLINE

Start Easy in Coldest Weather—Other Cars Show Proportionate Saving.

A new carburetor which cuts down gasoline consumption of any motor and reduces gasoline bills from one-third to one-half is the proud achievement of the Air-Friction Carburetor Co. 106 Madison St. Dayton, Ohio. This remarkable invention not only increases the power of motors from 30 to 50 percent, but enables every one to run slow on high gear. It also makes it easy to start a Ford or any other car in the coldest weather. You can use the very cheapest grade of gasoline or half gasoline and half kerosene and still get more power and more mileage than you now get from the highest test gasoline. All Ford owners can get as high as 34 miles to a gallon of gasoline. So sure are the manufacturers of the immense saving their new carburetor will make that they offer to send it on 30 days trial to every car owner. As it can be put on or taken off in a few minutes by anyone. All readers of this paper who want to try it should send their name, address and make of car to the manufacturers at once. They also want local agents, to whom they offer exceptionally large profits. Write them today.—(Adv.)

"After suffering for about 40 years I am almost well again, thank to PURATONE," is the remarkable statement made by Mr. A. K. Allen, a prosperous truck farmer living just outside the city limits of Ada more.

Continuing Mr. Allen said, "For about 40 years I had terrible pains in my back and hips. They were so bad I could hardly straighten up and my kidneys troubled me so I had to get up five or six times every night. Also when I walked

I would during the day my legs hurt so at night I could not sleep.

"A friend, and he proved a true friend, recommended Puratone to me, and although I have been taking it only a short time my kidneys are much better, the soreness is out of my back and hips and I can walk as straight as I ever did. But for my own neglect in not keeping a supply of Puratone at all times and taking it regularly I feel sure I would be entirely well right now.

"Puratone has done me so much good in so short a time that I want to let others know about it and recommend it to those who are suffering as I did."

Mystery Order Warns All Cheaters to Go Straight In High School Quizzes

An air of mystery prevailed Ada High school today. Students passed quietly up and down the halls from one class room to another, only daring to stop for a whispered word or two at intervals. Some exchanged wise glances, some showed on their faces signs of worry. Others were awed and some were just plain curious.

A bomb shell had been exploded in their midst and it came as a distant surprise. Nothing like it had happened in the school before, so say those who for the past four years have been students there.

"We have been unable to stop it," he said, "and I am glad that the students are willing to help us. The notice is taken by the faculty as meaning that the better type of student is behind us and that they will do everything in their power to put a stop to the 'easy way' of getting through school."

"By order of the HVI." Prof. A. L. Fentem declared this morning that he was as surprised as the students. When asked whether that he was aware of there being any excess cheating among the students, he said that there was enough of it to warrant such action by the new order, although it did not prevail in the school generally.

"We have been unable to stop it," he said, "and I am glad that the students are willing to help us. The notice is taken by the faculty as meaning that the better type of student is behind us and that they will do everything in their power to put a stop to the 'easy way' of getting through school."

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

GREAT POWER FROM GOD.—Behold, I give unto you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy; and nothing shall by any means hurt you.—Luke 10:19.

THE FRENCH ATTITUDE.

A rift has appeared in the lute upon which the disarmament conference was beginning to play a march of peace. The French are the parties guilty of causing the trouble. They flatly refuse to agree on cutting down the submarine building program and it has come to be a question of agreeing to French terms of calling off the whole proposition of limiting armaments. France is staggering under a stupendous public debt somewhere up near forty billion dollars. She owes the United States an immense sum upon which she is not even paying the interest, but in the face of national bankruptcy she insists on maintaining an expensive military and naval program. On one hand France seeks a cancellation of the debt to America and on the other insists that she must be permitted to expend millions on more armament. Such a course will not help her cause any in this country.

Of course the underlying motive may possibly be fear of another German invasion, but there is also ground for suspicion that France has not lost all of her admiration for Napoleon and still harks back to the days when French bayonets glittered from the mouth of the Tagus to the Vistula. Before the meeting of the Versailles conference Clemenceau ridiculed the idea of a league of nations considering the old order of things with France the strongest continental power good enough for him. At all events developments since the signing of the armistice prove that the European nations have not lost any of their selfishness and have not taken Wilson's ideals to heart to any noticeable extent. It is still every fellow for himself and the devil take the hindmost. Necessity and force are the only arguments very well understood over there. The United States may prefer her former splendid isolation, but with billions of dollars owing this government by Europe necessity will force the United States to exercise enough influence in European politics to compel peace and eventually collect what is owing us. Certainly this will never be if there is any more war in Europe for a long time to come.

A Berlin dispatch states that at the request of his family Trotsky, the Bolshevik leader of Russia, was recently publicly expelled from the Jewish church. Even his own family could not tolerate his infamous careers as leader of the red revolution, and took this means of disowning him. Although there is little to commend in Trotsky's career, it may be regarded as an awful retribution on the Russian nation that a Jew has worked so much woe on it. Russia has long been a vindictive persecutor of the Jews and not a year passed that did not witness a massacre or two of Jews, just as the Armenians were butchered by the Turks. Now the wheel of fortune has turned, a Jew has come into power and the other elements of the population are having a taste of the sufferings formerly heaped upon the Jews. Two wrongs do not make a right, but the law of retribution is one that cannot be repealed. What a man or nation sows must be reaped, although in either case it is the innocent who must bear much of the suffering as a result of the wickedness of others.

The death of Senator Penrose removes one of the leaders of the Republican party at a very critical time. Penrose has long occupied a commanding position in the councils of the party and would have had much to do in shaping legislation during the next few years. Since the days of Aldrich and Hale, Penrose, Smoot and Lodge have been the recognized heads of the party in the senate, but they could never command the unwavering support of their colleagues that Aldrich and Hale did. With removal of Penrose from the stage of action the question of leadership of the senate will be rather uncertain. Penrose was always strongly conservative and his death may possibly give the progressive element of the party a greater influence in shaping party policy and national legislation.

Ada recently passed her twenty-first birthday as a railroad town. She is a very lusty young lady, thank you, and in another decade promises to outstrip many more of her old sisters in Oklahoma as she has done in the past. With her steady and substantial growth Ada attains her majority in the bloom of health and full of confidence for the future. Ada has learned to move in only one direction—forward. She owes her growth and healthy development to a bunch of boosters who gave the infant careful attention and whose number was augmented as the infant grew in years and stature.

We hope to see the day when the naval powers' dreadnought will be 0-0.

Dr. Barton says there is no husband shortage in America. Yet there are a lot of husbands short just now.

Your 30 Slaves.
(Wichita Times)

Take away all our machinery and steam and electrical power, and it would require 3,000,000,000 hard-working slaves to duplicate the work done by Americans.

The use of power and machinery gives to every man, woman and child in our country the equivalent of 30 slaves.

This is figured out in the latest bulletin of the Smithsonian Institution.

Why envy the nobleman, back in ancient Egypt or Bagdad, with 30 slaves toiling for him?

He had swift-running slaves bring him fish from the ocean and bird tongues from the mountains.

Today, with a few dimes, you can get a tin can of shrimp brought from Japan, a package of dates from Syria, a bag of nuts from Brazil, sardines from Norway.

Your slaves—machinery and power—bring them.

For a few cents, you can buy enough matches to start 1000 fires. When the ancient nobleman's fire was caused by the rain, he shivered in the cold until slaves made a blaze by friction or brought firebrands from afar.

Plenty of old settlers, now living, can recall the days before matches, when they ran a mile from the nearest neighbor's with a shovelful of blazing coals.

Your real wealth is measured, not in money, but in the number of things you obtain to eat and wear, the ease with which you get them, the comforts and conveniences of your home, methods of transportation and amusement.

It is only a few centuries since even the richest kings had no sewers, running water, rapid transportation or any of the commonplace things that brighten the lives of all today.

Each year adds to our comforts and conveniences.

A few years ago, only the richest men in town had autos. Now there's an auto for every 12 Americans.

Henry Ford is experimenting with a mixture of glue, cotton and formaldehyde. He expects to make a powerful building material out of these. If he succeeds, he'll stamp flivvers out like doughnuts.

That seems like a dream. But it is merely typical of the processes of mass production that have given the average person luxuries that were denied the kings of antiquity.

Measured in ancient standards, we are all kings today, with the slaves of electricity, steam and machinery toiling constantly for us.

"How An Ex-President Should Act"

(Muskogee Phoenix)
Mr. Woodrow Wilson has just celebrated his sixty-fifth birthday. It wasn't much of a "celebration," perhaps, for this bent "old man" who only a few years before had known the applause of multitudes and had heard the praise of kings. A short time ago a hero of France, a "saviour of the world," an idol in the eyes of his own people, he Wednesday passed the sixty-fifth mile stone of his eventful life, almost alone. Telegrams that came to him were much of the perfumery sort that one might expect from old friends and men whom had served under him. There was little acclamation in the press, he had apparently been almost forgotten.

And Woodrow Wilson has been forgotten because it is he who has willed it so. That he no longer is "the linelight" is not to his discredit; quite the contrary. It will be remembered that as he retired to private life he answered a reporter's question as to what he proposed to do, with the reply that he "intended to show the people how an ex-president should act." Let the historians record that, thus at least, he has been true to his determination. His temptations have been great yet he has held his peace. There have been times that he might have greatly hampered the man who so overwhelmingly defeated the policies he cherished but he has been silent. Politicians have urged him to again hurl himself into the battle and he has declined.

There is no precedent that requires an ex-president to take a back seat; Roosevelt gave us one altogether different. But Woodrow Wilson, to this time, has played the game squarely in our humble estimation at least, has shown us now an ex-president should conduct himself.

SCHOOL FIGURES TO SHOW GREAT GAIN

The teachers who succeed are those who have a definitely arranged program and carry it out to the minute as far as practical. They plan their work each day, take interest in the general welfare and home environments of their pupils, and lose sight of the pay check as the only remuneration or reward for their services. To those who are negligent on these four points, let me urge upon you to improve them. Any assistance which I am able to give is at your command.

Expressing to you my appreciation of your work and co-operation I beg to remain,
Yours sincerely,
A. FLOYD, Co. Superintendent.

FEDERAL COURT OPENS AT CAPITAL JANUARY 16

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 2.—Federal district court will convene here January 16, it was announced today officially. Of foremost interest of the criminal cases on the docket for trial at this time is the Santa Fe mail train robbery near Edmond several months ago for which six men are now being held at Guthrie.

"LITTLE AFRICA" NEAR NORMALCY AFTER DISASTER

(By the Associated Press)
TULSA, Okla., Jan. 3.—Tulsa's negro section, wiped out in part by the conflagration which swept the district as an aftermath of the race rioting of last June, is again approaching a condition of normalcy. The tented city that sprang up in the wake of the flames and offered shelter to hundreds of homeless negroes, has been replaced in large measure by comfortable two-room houses. Ninety of these houses have been built, largely through efforts of the American Red Cross which has acted as agent of a number of relief organizations contributing to the alleviation of the negroes' condition.

In addition to the homes which have been put up, several one, two and three-story business buildings have been erected out of the ashes of former structures which disappeared in the swirl of angry flames that terminated the race warfare. These buildings have been built not only by negro merchants, but by white men whose property, which had been rented to negroes, was destroyed.

The negro dwellings put up through the Red Cross cost approximately $150 each. Many other homes have been erected by negroes who had funds to replace their lost dwellings.

A hospital is being erected by the negroes under the supervision of the Red Cross, which is also conducting classes in sewing for the negro women, teaching them to make supplies needed in the hospital and in their homes.

The new year, according to housing experts, saw a better negro section in Tulsa than existed before the fire, the district having been planned as a unit in its rebuilding and therefore designed more uniformly than its predecessor.

RUMOR LINKS HER NAME WITH CHAPLIN'S, BUT CLAIRE WINDSOR SAYS NOTHING

Claire Windsor, the pretty screen actress whose name has been linked with Charlie Chaplin's by Dame Rumor, turns her pretty back upon inquisitive reporters and will say nothing about the comedian save that he "is a nice man." Then she will look searchingly into her mirror with her dazzling but inscrutable face taking on a serious expression and all reporters forget there ever was a Charlie Chaplin on earth.

Farmers' Column

By Byron Norrell

According to a report by Prof. B. A. Pratt, now head of the boys' club work of Oklahoma, 23,799 boys are enrolled in various clubs. Miss Frances L. Brown, who is at the head of home demonstration department reports 13,072 girls enrolled for club work. This gives a total of 36,871 live boys and girls who are interested in better and more profitable of farm and home work. Pontotoc county ranks fifth in the number of boys enrolled, the figure being 730. This county holds fourth rank for the girls' clubs with 429 enrolled. When it is remembered that the boys and girls of Pontotoc county took many high honors at the state fairs at Oklahoma City and Muskogee, it will be seen that we have a very wideawake bunch. The results of this club work cannot be measured at this time. It will take several years for the full benefit to become apparent. When the boys begin farming for themselves and the girls have homes of their own to keep and they have the full responsibility of putting into practice what they are now learning, we can see how well we are building for the future. I have always been a strong believer in this club work and have lost none of my enthusiasm.

Speaking of ultimate results of a movement, a case is city from Cotton county. Several years ago a boy by the name of Jed J. Johnson, now state senator, became very enthusiastic over raising Mammoth Bronze turkeys. He made a success of it himself and many others followed his example with the result that that section of the state is still raising these birds by the thousands. This year when crops were poor and turkeys high, they shipped several cars of turkeys realizing enough to save many of them from financial disaster. Thus the example

PRISONERS SAY TERM IN SOVIET JAIL WAS GOOD

(By the Associated Press)
MOSCOW, Jan. 3.—The majority of political prisoners, men and women, being released from Soviet prisons speak with satisfaction of their imprisonment as "a great experience," while they are not at all anxious to renew the experience, they insist that it did them good.

As being locked up in Russia has become a sort of habit, there is no shame attached to imprisonment, and those released seem proud of their time spent behind bars.

The women prisoners feel that they have seen a novel side of life and, while rich in their abuse of the conditions of their imprisonment, invariably wind up their recital by saying theirs was a great and valuable experience.

Instead of punishing these people, it would almost seem the Soviet government had conferred a distinct benefit on them by locking them up. The solitude of prison life, with its opportunity for self-acquaintance, appealed to Miss Alexandra Tolstoi, daughter of the great writer, who was locked up once for eight months at stretch.

BRITISH GIVE UP
RULE OF IRELAND
AT DUBLIN TODAY

(By the Associated Press)

DUBLIN, Jan. 16.—The governmental powers of Ireland as vested in the British authorities at Dublin Castle, were turned today to the provisional government as constituted last Saturday under the Anglo-Irish treaty. The transfer was made by Viscount Fitzlaz, the Lord Lieutenant, in the privy council chamber.

From an early hour this morning the approaches of the castle were blocked by good humored crowds waiting to see what was described as the "fall of Dublin castle." The lower court yard was a mass of visitors, journalists and photographers. The metropolitan police dealt in a friendly manner with all comers and the auxiliaries were in uniform watching the proceedings from their old quarters where they had examined so many Sinn Feiners.

The workmen were engaged today in dismantling the screens erected for the protection of the castle from attack. Ashes of burned documents were sprinkled over the spectators outside.

In the upper castle court yard outside the vice-regal apartments, a detachment of the Cornwall regiment on guard for the last time, went through their rifle drill. This was expected to be the final appearance of a British regiment and the troops were duly photographed as they marched off.

Post office clerks came to take over from the soldiers the maintenance of the castle telegraph wires.

MEXIA, Jan. 16.—Clearing away of the debris from Saturday night's fire which destroyed several two-story structures on Commerce street here was to begin today. The estimated loss was $250,000. National guards and Texas rangers sent here to enforce martial law proclaimed by Governor Nehf, in his campaign to rid Mexia of law breakers, maintained guard over the burned area during the night to prevent looting of the merchandise of all descriptions in the downtown district.

Ruff Wardlow, who gave his place of residence as near the Galey school house, in the northern part of the county, was arrested yesterday by county officers and placed in jail here on a charge of transporting intoxicating liquor. The complaint grew out of a court of inquiry conducted in the office of County Attorney Wayne Wadlington two weeks ago into an alleged free-for-all fight and general disturbance at the Galey school two months ago. Other arrests are expected to follow as result of the investigation.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Still awaiting the receipt by the Japanese delegation of its instructions from Tokio, which are expected to bring permission to complete the naval limitation treaty, the arms conference today prepared to turn again to the study of far eastern questions.

The delegations of the nine powers participating in the discussion of those questions were called to meet at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in the first session to be held by that portion of the conference of the five naval powers.

The question of mines along the railroad in Kiao-Chow was touched upon in today's meeting but the discussion was not finished and will be continued at the session to-morrow.

Home Orchards
By D. C. MOORING
Extension Horticulturist A. and M. College

As stated in a previous article, Oklahoma has only 50 percent as many fruit trees as ten years ago.

The value of a properly cared for home orchard can hardly be overestimated. Frequently the only value attached to a home orchard is fruit harvested. No doubt this is very important but would not be the only factor to be considered.

In the chicken lot, fruit trees will make good shade, as well as around other parts of the premises. A home with lots of nice trees around it looks much more inviting.

The educational value of a home orchard is worth consideration. The setting out and caring for the trees is instructional and again learning the variety characteristics of the different kinds of fruits is valuable. Many people simply know that a plum is a plum and a peach is a peach and do not have the least idea of what the variety is.

It is a recognized fact that fruit is healthful. In case of the more perishable fruits, a much fresher supply can be obtained from the home orchard. Where the fruit is raised at home it will be eaten more often and in greater quantities. The small market, for instance, seldom offers peaches for sale except during the Elberta season. A properly selected list of varieties of peaches where space is available and favorable season, would furnish peaches from June to October.

The scarcity and high prices of fruit should certainly stimulate the planting of home orchards. The surplus fruit can be dried, canned and sold. Good fruit usually commands a good price. Frequently in towns where the trees are more or less protected by the houses, these trees will bear more fruit, where the commercial orchards fail. This is when the fruit is appreciated and when the surplus sells for a good price.

There is no excuse for a country home not having a year around supply of fresh or canned fruit, especially in a fruit year.

Some of our town friends who are garden enthusiasts may think they have not sufficient room for trees.

A mistake that many of us frequently make is to try to garden too large an area. A small well planned and well kept garden will give better results and be much more slightly than a large poorly kept garden.

Fruit trees may be planted around the sides of the home and even in a portion of the garden. The same cultivation given the garden will answer for the cultivation of the trees. Vegetables and small fruits may be grown in between the trees for several years.

Renew Stallion License.

Since the breeding season is near at hand, stallion and jack owners should obtain their 1922 licenses immediately. If application is sent in at this time, it will be possible to issue the licenses promptly but if it is delayed until March 1, there is bound to be considerable delay on account of the fact that so many applications will be coming in at that time. Application blanks have been mailed to owners of stallions and jacks licensed in 1921. New owners can secure application blanks by addressing the Oklahoma State Livestock Registry Board, Stillwater, Oklahoma.

Following is the weekly bulletin from the state board of agriculture: General rains during the past week materially improved the outlook for wheat. Enid reported 1.10 inches of rain; Kingfisher, 1.14; Newkirk, .95; and Geary, 1.02 inches. Reports from these points indicate that considerable moisture fell over the heaviest wheat producing sections and will no doubt raise the low conditions figure reported to this office on the 20th of December. This is the first moisture of any consequence that has fallen in the principal wheat producing counties since September of 1921.

It is very unlikely that any large amount of acreage will yet be sown to wheat at this late date.

From reliable sources of information it is estimated that $1,800,000 has been placed in Oklahoma by banks who have taken advantages of the offerings of the war finance corporation for loans for agricultural and livestock purposes.

Reports received at this office show that from December 29th to 31st, the war finance corporation approved $9,359,000; on January 3rd and 4th, $2,671,000 and from January 5th to 7th, $6,204,000. A total of $18,234,000 on the above mentioned dates. Of this amount only $229,000 was placed in Oklahoma. It does not look as though Oklahoma was getting her share of this money.

Revised government figures for 1919 and 1920 and preliminary estimates for 1921 show that Oklahoma's wheat crop has been considerably under-estimated during the past three years.

Previous estimates indicated that Oklahoma produced a total of 137,000,000 bushels of wheat during the past three years, but the revised figures show that the state really produced a total of 167,000,000 bushels. In other words the crop was under-estimated approximately 30,000,000 bushels during the past three years.

The total value of all crops is estimated at approximately $176,000,000 for 1921, compared with $122,000,000 in 1920 and $605,000,000 in 1919.

From the clippings taken from the various papers over the state, it seems that this could be called poultry week. Poultry shows have been held over the entire state and some excellent stock has been on display.

S. H. Henthon Makes Good Record With Cows. This is the heading of a clipping taken from the Cheyenne Star of recent date. On November 26, 1919. Mr. Henthon purchased seven head of cows at a sale for $391. On November 26, 1921, he had sold cream products amounting to $540, $160 worth of calves, and had remaining five heifer calves and the original seven cows—in addition to supplying a family of six with all their butter and milk during that time. Just another sideline."

The state board of agriculture wishes to announce that they have procured through Senator Owen a large quantity of Garden Seed that will be mailed to anyone in the state upon request for same.

J. A. WHITEHURST,
President, State Board of Agriculture.

As will be noted in the weekly bulletin below any one wishing a supply of government garden seed can get them free by dropping a card to the state Board of Agriculture, Oklahoma City. With free seed there is no reason why any one with a plot of ground should not raise a garden this year.

When I began to mention gardens in this column a few days ago my wife at once began to map out plans for me to put some of my talk into practice. She rustled a sharp shooter spade and has been insisting that I get busy. After spading industriously for half an hour I insisted that I had developed a very bad crick in my back which made further progress impossible. Somehow she refuses to take much stock in that sort of talk and still insists that I show the folks what gardening is really like.

Mrs. Duvall reports the organization of clubs at Union Hill and Pickett last week. She also visited several old clubs and helped them to start off on another year's work. Mr. Hill is also lining up the boys' clubs and expects another successful year with them.

Prof. B. A. Pratt of Stillwater was in Ada Saturday en route from Atoka where he attended a meeting of teachers and endeavored to impress on them the importance of pushing the organization of boys' and girls' clubs. Prof. Pratt did some effective work in Pontotoc county in co-operating with the demonstrators and in his broader sphere with the entire state as his field he bids fair to make his mark as an organizer.

Lute Douge, J. F. Weldon and C. S. Aldrich made some records with their chickens at the Holdenville show last week. They are putting Pontotoc county on the map in the poultry world. It always speaks well for any community to have a lot of bloodied stuff around whether chickens or other livestock. It may be that others from this county won honors at Holdenville, but I have not been informed of it if such is the case.

Lions and tigers in captivity require one day a week without food to keep them in good health.

The Foundation Honors You.

You place a small amount into a Foundation that lasts forever. The certificate issued to you by the National Committee entitles you to representation in an organization that lasts, not ten, fifty, or one hundred years, but for the rest of time. Your mite placed in this great movement not only works for the good of humanity while you live but works on and on after your body reposes under the sod. You honor Woodrow Wilson only by raising this fund in his name. You honor yourself by contributing a sum which you will not miss to an active and everlasting monument that will always and forever work in the interest of permanent peace and to aid down-trodden humanity.

Mr. Wilson said in an address at Swarthmore college:

"Do you covet distinction? You will never get it by serving yourself. Do you covet honor? You will get it only as a servant of mankind."

In what better way could one express the very soul of Woodrow Wilson. He covets honor and he is honored by the world. Why? Because of his intense interest in humanity which he has served so well.

Ride in the parade of the millions that are marching behind this great movement in honor of that great American soldier, wounded in both soul and body by the world war and establish a foundation in the interest of peace and humanity that will grow with the ages. Hand down the certificate you shall receive to the generations that follow you and leave it as a mark of your interest in the same cause.
